1. MAI Chien-chuan (麥劍泉), leader of a guerrilla force in the Chungshan (113-36, 22-22) district facing Macao, had several hundred followers during World War II whom he used to harass the Japanese. After the end of the war, this following decreased to 100 men, who were engaged in smuggling from the mainland to Macao. MAI now claims to have excellent connections with political circles and also the underground in Macao although his personal following has dwindled now to no more than 20.
